

Investigative Reporters and Editors 2021 IRE Virtual Conference – June 14-18 Exhibitor & Recruiter Prospectus

Investigative Reporters and Editors invites you to exhibit or recruit at our upcoming IRE21 virtual conference.

The 2021 IRE Conference will again be a virtual event, bringing together members for five days of training, conversations and networking online June 14-18.

Most sessions will take place from noon to 4 p.m. (Eastern U.S. Time), to allow for participation across the United States and around the world. Training sessions will be recorded and available for attendees on demand for up to one year on the conference platform. The event will also include fun social events, such as happy hours, networking and a celebration of the 2020 IRE Award winners.

Our virtual conference platform, Pathable, provides for opportunities for exhibitors and recruiters to network and interact with attendees to show new products, discuss tools or software available to journalists or highlight open positions you have. We have made changes this year and have two virtual tradeshow days set aside with time during breaks so there is not competition with educational sessions.

Hours

There are no set exhibitor/recruiter hours, attendees will have access to your organizational “booth” throughout the conference and for one year following the conference. Each exhibitor and recruiter receive a dedicated “organizational page” to display their own customized content including videos, product/demo information, job postings and brochures.

Virtual Tradeshow Hours (all times are in Eastern U.S. Time)

Tuesday, June 15: 11-11:30 a.m. *no competing educational sessions

Tuesday, June 15: 1-1:30 p.m. *no competing educational sessions

Tuesday, June 15: 2:30-3 p.m. *no competing educational sessions

Thursday, June 17: 11-11:30 a.m. *no competing educational sessions

Thursday, June 17: 1-1:30 p.m. *no competing educational sessions

Thursday, June 17: 2:30-3 p.m. *no competing educational sessions

Each exhibitor/recruiter has the option to participate in the virtual tradeshow. This dedicated time provides for a private zoom room for attendees to visit, to request additional information, ask questions or attend mini programming you have put together. Breakout rooms are available during the virtual tradeshow if you would like to break into even smaller groups. In addition to the virtual tradeshow, attendees can request information on your page, drop their “card” and request a private meeting with one of your staff members.

Analytics are available to exhibitors and recruiters during and after the conference. These include who visited the virtual booth, how many times they visited and what content was viewed. Contact information is provided for any attendees who requested information.

Applications can be completed and submitted here. If you have any questions, please contact Stephanie Klimstra, Director of Events, stephanie@ire.org, #407-246-9097.
